ASPEN

Imagine sitting at the ski lodge sipping a cup of hot cocoa curled up in a cozy wool blanket. “Aspen” was constructed with the same unique air twisted yarns that were created for St. Moritz. With the look and feel of wool we created a waffle like pattern reminiscent of a textured wool blanket. The natural elements of Aspen Mountain ski resort inspired the coloration created for Fabrica’s new introduction, combining the neutral colorations of natural wool with a sprinkling of colors that hint of the forest and evergreen terrain of the Rockies.

BUCKINGHAM

There is nothing more handsome than a finely made jacket with a classic Herringbone pattern. This is the character of “Buckingham” created from a new striated yarn which uses 3 different ends plied and twisted together creating this unique multi-textured effect. The 24 coloration were inspired by men suiting fabrics with twilled neutrals, greys and Navy tailored specifically for this new classic introduction.

DESSERT VISTA

Amazing vistas, mineral sediments, rock formations are all influences of Desert Vista. Designed to create the effect of fluvial deposits left behind by Ancient Seas and rivers. Nature with its organic flow inspired the patterns and colorways for Desert Vista, a palette taken from the walls of the canyons themselves which imbue the colors of minerals, sandstone, Limestone and other elements of nature found in these beautiful wonders of Nature – transform your space.

IMPERIAL POINT

Inspired by the majestic Point Imperial in the Grand Canyon, one of the most visited spots on the North Rim and is the highest point on either rim. From here you can look eastward toward the junction of the Colorado River and beyond that, to the Painted Desert, opening into the gaping chasm of Marble Canyon.

KINGS CANYON

This new Fabrica product was inspired by the glacier carved canyon wall of Kings Canyon in Sierra, Nevada. This famous park is also known for its high Mt. meadows, raging rivers and home of many giant Sequoia trees.
